MORNING ON 'CHANGE

Mild trading between boards, and a small exchange of stocks in session sales, featured today's business on the street. Six companies are paying dividends today as follows: Alexander & Baldwin, $1; Onomea, 40 cents; Hawaiian Electric, $1; Pahang Rubber Co., 10 cents; Tanjong Olok Rubber, 20 cents; Hawaiian Agricultural Co., 40 cents.

Two hundred and thirty-two shares of Honolulu Brewing & Malting sold between boards at $18. Fifteen shares of Pioneer sold at $38.25, and 135 sold at $38. Other between board sales were: 10 Oahu Sugar, $30; 51 Hawaii Consolidated Railway, $6; 30 Hawaiian Pineapple, $45. Session sales were 10 Honolulu Brewery, $18; 10 Olan, $8.62½; 145 Waiwala, $26.

WOMAN ARCHITECT STUDIES HAWAII'S BUILDING STYLES

"It's a Shame Your Architecture is So Jumbled," Says Trade Journal Owner

That there is no place in the world quite so beautiful as Honolulu and the island of Oahu, is the belief of Mrs. E. M. C. Whitney of San Francisco, owner of "The Architect and Engineer of California," who has arrived in this city. Mrs. Whitney, who is sole owner and manager of the magazine, which is published monthly, and is devoted exclusively to technical questions regarding construction and engineering and architecture, came to Honolulu for a short vacation. She is accompanied by Mrs. Lendel Grey, of Redwood City.

"I am going back to San Francisco next week," said Mrs. Whitney, "and my stay here is going to be altogether too short. I think the beauty spots of Honolulu are the most wonderful in the world. I really can't comprehend all this amazing scenery."

The magazine owner hopes to interview a number of the local architects before she returns to the mainland.

"I hope to secure a lot of material regarding the Honolulu style of architecture so that I may get out a Hawaiian edition. I was much interested recently in the plans of this city to have a huge business block unit so as to conform to a single style of architecture peculiar to these islands. I think it is a shame that your style here is so jumbled. A set of plans drawn exclusively for Honolulu would work wonders in the appearance of your business section."

Mrs. Whitney commented on the fact that Louis Mullgardt, who was in this city several months ago, and who made plans for a number of local business buildings, is a contributor to her publication. "I hope Mr. Mullgardt returns to this city and makes plans for your construction work," said Mrs. Whitney. "I think he is one of the foremost architects in America."

Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Grey will visit Hilo and the volcano before they return to the coast.

HILO BANK TO HAVE FINE NEW QUARTERS

HILO, Hawaii, Sept. 20.—At an estimated cost of probably a little more than forty thousand dollars, the First Bank of Hilo is preparing to complete the finest office quarters in its new building, into which it will probably move within the next six months, in the territory.

The contract for the marble work has been let, a Mr. Heilman of Honolulu being the successful bidder, at a sum totaling nearly six thousand dollars. The marble work includes a complete marble finishing of the walls, floors and counters.—Post.

SONOMA DUE FRIDAY

A late wireless received by C. Brewer & Co. states that the Sonoma will be off port at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning and sail for San Francisco at 4 in the afternoon.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

S. W. Robley will speak tonight and Saturday night at the Salvation Army headquarters, 69 Beretania street. No meeting will be held tomorrow night.

Mildred Leo Lemens, who was in Honolulu last Christmas, is now giving lectures in the large cities of the West on Hawaii, illustrated with scenic lantern slides.

Mayor Joseph J. Fera was absent from his office all morning, attending the meeting of the Oahu loan fund commission which was held in the executive building at 11 o'clock.

City and County Treasurer L. D. Conkling left this morning for the country with the paychecks for the road employees who are working outside of the city. He will return to the city this evening.

The case of Kimura, a Japanese charged with headless driving, was nolle prossed in Circuit Judge Ashford's court this morning at the instance of the city attorney's office. Defendant was convicted and fined in police court.

Olive Branch, Rebekah Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F., will hold a short business session this evening followed by a social at which the finals of the whist tournament will be played. Special prizes will be given as well as the grand prize. Refreshments served afterwards.

The city and county auditor's office did a land office business this morning in the distribution of yellow slips of paper. There was a constant stream of toll-worn men in and out of the office all the time. It was payday for the laborers employed by the city and county.

License Inspector W. H. Hutton, who is in Queen's hospital, suffering from typhoid fever, is reported as being better. His temperature has been considerably reduced. It is rumored that Inspector Hutton contracted typhoid by drinking water from a filter in the police station. Several of the men at headquarters have been reported as feeling ill, and it is believed the drinking water may have been infected.

EXPECT MAUI AND MATSONIA TO BE TAKEN IN SPRING

Commandeering of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific by the government is locally expected to be followed by the taking over of the Matsonia and Maui of the Matson line. But it is not believed that this action will be taken immediately, and probably not until next spring or at least not until the national shipping board has made arrangements for the placing of smaller vessels in the Honolulu service.

It is believed probable that some of the former German ships now in the Philippines, may be secured to operate between San Francisco and Honolulu, which are not adaptable as army transports. For transports only, the speedier vessels will be desired by the government, it is argued, as these are the ones most successful in dodging and evading submarines.

While the twin liners, Great Northern and Northern Pacific, have speed they will have to undergo considerable alterations to make excellent troop ships. This is because their cargo-carrying capacity is limited. The Atlantic transports are required to carry fuel enough for the round trip when crossing to France.

Seizing the Great Northern and Northern Pacific by the government came as the sequel to two contradictory reports received earlier in the week. One report stated officials of the Great Northern Steamship Co. had been assured the two ships were not to be taken by the government and that plans were being made to place the Great Northern on the Honolulu run. On the same day this report was cable from San Francisco, it was contradicted by another despatch which said the vessels were to be commandeered.

The despatch received late yesterday afternoon was without qualification, and it is considered the final word regarding the intention of the government to use these ships for transports.

Some shipping men declare that the commandeering of the two vessels will be a matter of satisfaction to the Great Northern company, as neither of them are constructed so as to give good service and returns in the Pacific coast trade. The company wanted the government to take over the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific," said one Honolulu shipping man this morning.

WAGE QUESTION WILL BE DISCUSSED SUNDAY

Local Japanese will discuss the higher wage question at a meeting next Sunday evening in the Asahi theater, Maunakea street. Editors of the Japanese Newspapers, and others who are interested in the matter, will be the principal speakers.

The object of holding the meeting Sunday evening, it is reported, is to enable the plantation laborers, or their spokesmen, to attend and learn for themselves what the higher wage advocates have to say.

PERSONALITIES

T. KANNO, president of the Kona Development Co., is in town on business. He expects to leave for his home in Kona tomorrow noon.

S. AWOKI, manager of the Yokohama Specie Bank, who went to Kona, Hawaii, to investigate the condition of the Kona Development Co., which is controlled by the Japanese capitalists, has returned to Honolulu.

ORGANIZATION OF NATION'S DRAFT VERY THOROUGH

Time for Tonight's Meeting of Exemption Board Fixed in Washington, D. C.

How thorough is the organization of the selective draft work built up by Brig-Gen. E. H. Crowder, provost marshal-general, is illustrated in the announcement printed yesterday in these columns that Marshal J. J. Smiddy had notified the members of the district exemption board that there would be a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock.

Persons reading the article were struck with the fact that the hour of the meeting was set from Washington. This was in accordance with the law in the matter.

At an informal meeting a few nights ago the board of exemptions decided upon tonight as the next date of meeting. This fact was given to Governor Pinkham, who cabled it to Gen. Crowder. The officer then cabled instructions to Marshal Smiddy.

The value of this seemingly round about method would be greater in the mainland, where boards are separated than here, where federal and territorial offices are so close together. The law reads:

"Upon request of the provost marshal general the United States marshal of any federal judicial district in the state, territory and district where in the district board is located shall notify the persons appointed by the president, members of such district boards to assemble at the time and place designated."

ORGANIZATION OF LOCAL EXEMPTION BOARDS FINISHED

George R. Carter, former governor of Hawaii, who is to leave next week for New York on an indeterminate stay, has resigned from the local board of exemptions in his district.

Gov. Pinkham will recommend a successor by cable to Washington at once, it was stated today. George F. Renton has been named chairman of this board whose district corresponds to the fifth representative district. This completes the organization of both Honolulu boards. Clerks at the draft headquarters in the senate chamber were on their knees today over a huge pile of registration cards, shuffling them apart to break up the numerical and alphabetical series in which they have been kept up to this time. This is to allow for absolute fairness in the numbering process. In addition to this another mixing will be made from this newly assorted pile before the actual draft takes place.

Numbering machines to place the final red ink numbers on the cards of the six districts will be furnished by the Chamber of Commerce and this work will be commenced as soon as the machines arrive. A start will be made on the islands which are already complete in returns.

IMPROVEMENTS GET ATTENTION IN NEW BUDGET

for spending purposes for the first six months was set at $368,777.34, but of this $189,875.00 has already been spent, which leaves only $178,902.34 for the budget of the next three months. The difference between the amount spent in the past three months and the amount remaining for the next three months is $10,970.60. The board started out with a balance of only $12,000 for road work and that has been wiped out, so that in the new budget it would appear that there must be provision made for the item, but as the board is facing a shortage of $10,970.60 to make up a total required for the budget in the next three months, the road work will suffer to the extent of the shortage.

"You must not gather that there will be no road work done," said E. A. Mott-Smith, chairman of the finance committee, today, "but the amount will have to be small in comparison with what has been done during these three months."

The pruning of expenditures to keep within the estimated income will also be extended to the incidental items of various departments and a saving is hoped to be effected there.

A report on how the budget for the last three months has worked out is being made up at present by the auditor's department and will be presented by the chairman of the finance committee to the meeting of the board of supervisors next Tuesday night.

With the beginning of the new year and the increased income for the city and county, Supervisor A. E. Mott-Smith is confident that a great many projects which have been simmering in the pot will be taken up seriously. The city and county garage idea and the city and county hospital plan will be discussed with a view to action being taken. Money for road work and improvements of various kinds will be on hand and in fact "it should be a dandy year for general civic progress" as Supervisor Mott-Smith puts it.

A regiment of 2,400 negro stevedores for foreign service was authorized by the War Department to meet the demand for experienced men to handle the supplies for the American soldiers in France.

ADVANCE GUARD IN FRANCE SHOWN

"Somewhere in France" the American soldiers are preparing to "do and die" in the cause of liberty. Under the able command of General Pershing the first contingent of the vast army of 2,000,000 that the United States proposes to provide for the firing line sailed away several months ago to commence the preparatory work of waging war against the Hun. General Pershing and the American troops arriving in France is the theme of the premier photoplay at the Hawaii theater, a photoplay without plot to produce thrills but one that produces thrills nevertheless. No one can witness a run of this film and realize that the unconscious actors are the advance guard of America's quota in the great world war but will be at the very heart of the action. Applause, loud and long greets this offering at each performance. Owing to the length of the program there is but one performance each evening, with a daily matinee that is drawing an attendance well above the average.

The regular Fox feature, "The Primitive Call," featuring Gladys Coburn, would be a big show in itself. Added to the Pershing picture the Hawaii is presenting one of its banner bills.

BIJOU PROGRAM IS ATTRACTIVE

Kathlyn Williams and Wheeler Oakman make a strong combination in Rex Beach's latest picturized story, "The Ne'er Do Well," the 10-reel feature now holding the screen at the Bijou theater. Almost everyone who reads the popular magazines is well acquainted with the story, which proved one of the biggest attractions of its time. There has been absolutely nothing lost in the filming of the gripping story.

In the role of a diplomat, with the instincts of a vampire, Miss Williams has an exceptionally good role. She does not make friends with her audience on the strength of the character she portrays but through her excellent portrayal. As "The Ne'er Do Well," Oakman is a likeable young chap, ever ready for a mix-up and always winning the admiration of his audience and those with whom he comes in contact in the story. Incidentally upsets the dope of the title and proves himself considerable of a man.

The Bijou program, in addition to the 10-reel feature, is presenting a Bray cartoon and a splendid semi-educational film dealing with rat culture as a scientific assistant to the elimination of disease.

WESTERN DRAMA AT THE LIBERTY

"The Lonesome Chap," film at the Liberty theater is a Pallas-Paramount, featuring Louise Huff and House Peters. A statement of these facts should be sufficient to pack the big Nuanu street theater with the Liberty clientele, for the reason that there appears to be a particular care taken in their production. Both Louise Huff and House Peters are favorite film stars wherever Pallas-Paramount pictures are known. In Honolulu they are most favorably known to the silent drama. The story of "The Lonesome Chap" is laid in the popular site for photodrama, a Western mining camp. It is a story teeming with love, adventure and excitement. There is pictured one scene, an accident, that will live in the memory of all who witness it. So realistic is this scene as to appear to have been an actual accident rather than a prearranged scene for the camera.
